

It's almost showtime!

Get on the road and head down south for the region's longest-running agricultural show hosted in the Cork Showgrounds in Curraheen. The show will take place from 14–15 June which coincides with Father's Day, making it a great gift idea for the father figure in your life. The event brings together the country's farmers, breeders and growers, who are all invited to take part in the over 800 competition classes across livestock, equestrian, horticulture, and rural skills. While the main draw of the event is its livestock judging, there is also live music, entertainment and arts and crafts to enjoy: all the ingredients for a fun family day out. A day ticket costs €25 for an adult and under 16s go free.

See corksummershow.com. Pictured below: Prize-winning cow Fran with Tom McGrath, a farmer from Cloyne and his son Sean McGrath (8). \Clare Keogh

